A Soldier's Speech.

On the 1st day of October, Maj. Gen. Jno. A. Logan, having a few days leave of absence, appeared among his old neighbors at Carbondale, Illinois, and made them a long speech, which is reported in full in the Cincinnati Commercial. We select a few para down in Dixie at the time. I found one of graphs, to which we invite the attention of graphs, to which we invite the attention of readers generally, and especially of the old know who a Congressman's fellow citizens line Democrats. Gen. Logan is an old line are in the Southern Confederacy? The sol-Democrat, of the Douglas order.

After analyzing the elements of modern Democracy, he took hold of the Chicago platform and slashed it without fear of, or expectation of favor from, that portion of his old political friends. We quote the conclusion on this subject, concerning

Sympathy for the Soldiers .- But the last extended to the soldiers of the army, and the seamen of the navy." I have heard of the manifestation of the spirit. I would like to see the manifestation of this sympathy, and I would rather see it manifested in acts than in writing. [Applause.] In what way do they sympathize with us? In resolutions that we are a noble band of patriots, that the war has been successful, and that they are proud of the army? No, sir; they say the war has been a failure. Do they congratulate us because we have planted our flag in every Southern State? No such thing. Do they sympathize with the widows and orphans of those who have been slain in battle? They say not a thing about that either. Is it by visiting the army and associating with the soldiers and officers? If so, I have failed to see them. I want any man to tell me when Pendleton or Vallandighamexcept the time he was sent though the lines-or Wood or Rynders, or Belmont, or Richmond, or Robinson, or Allen, or any of the rest of them, have ever come to see the army, and take the hand of the soldier on the field of battle. Not one of them ever came to see us since the war began after we passed south of Cairo. I have met other men there—men from Indiana, Illinois, and all the Western States. I have seen Gov-ernors—I have seen a half of a Legislature —come to the field, and talk to the boys and see that they were cared for; but these men -never. I am willing to sell out my interest in their "sympathy" for a very small price. [Laughter.] They say that in the event o their party attaining power, we will receive all the care, protection and regard that the brave soldiers and sailors of the Republic have so nobly earned. I want to know if I am not as much entitled to their sympathy and regard before as after they attain power. If they attain power, we are going to receive kindness and care. What sort? The very sort we don't want. They will disgrace us by sending peace propositions to Jeff Davis They would send commissioners to Jeff Davis who has charge of this most gigantic conspiracy against the best Government on earth, and would say, "Master Jefferson Davis, we have been sent as commissioners from the President of the United States, and we beg of your Worship that you give us an audiience, that we may make propositions of peace." [Laughter.] The next one would just as it used to be, therefore, we want the juggling avoided it. We regret that he was not the North Sheandoah, have all come in exstep up and say, "Yes, Massa Davis, the war to stop now. Some men are so mad properly tried immediately after his arrest, cept the officers." having fought us for four years, and whipped us every time; and now we desire to beg of the soldiers. They would go down to that arch traitor and bend the knee to him. I

[Laughter.] If a man makes a political speech there, he must make it in the army and to the army. There is no such thing as election polls, like we have here. They elect Congressmen, Senators and everything else in the army. The army is the Southern remember that much depends upon the choice the Northern men make for a President the incoming fall. There will be at war party, who will, doubtless, make an effort to have Lincoln retained, and the peace party, who will make a bold effort to elect a man pledged to give the Confederacy justice and restore peace—long desired and ardently prayed for peace—to our bleeding country. We hope, we trust we pray that they may be successful; such a shout as never was heard before would spread over our afflicted South. If such be the happy result our independence will be established But should Lincoln be re-elected, our fond hopes will be dashed to the ground; our ndependence but a thing dreamed of, for we have exhausted our resources, and could not possibly hope to be able to continue the war our years longer. Past experience has taught us that we should expect no favors at the hands of the indomitable tyrant and asurper, Abraham Lincoln. Let us repose our trust in the God of battles, and anxiously await the result."

Mr. Curry, you see goes on to say, "that if Lincoln should be re-elected, the hopes of the Southern Confederacy would be dashed to the ground," and so forth. The correspondent of the New York Herald with the Army of the Potomac publishes an unfinished letter written by a rebel officer to his mother and captured by our forces. The following admission is imo possible inducement for deception: "The spirit of our army is not as good as it was some time since; all are talking of going back in the Union. This is the ignorant class of course. I declare I become so vexed with them sometimes I can hardly govern myself. A Rebel Absurdity.

The rebels, and anti-Unionists generally are using the following absurd argument among a certain class, to show them why they ought not to vote for the Union ticket Say they to them: "If McClellan is elected, Lincoln will immediately recognize the Southern Confederacy.'

Now this is a strange reason why any man who does not want the Southern Confederacy recognized should vote for McClellan. And the strangeness of the thing is, that it is an argument used by men who really want the Southern Confederacy recognized immediately, and are actually working to advance the interests of the Chicago nominees, believing that should McClellan and Pendles ton succeed their great desire will be realized. In using this argument, these men are only practicing their disposition to de' ceive plain people.

'Oh! What a tangled web we weave, When first we practice to deceive.
